Liebnitz arrived from Liverpool.

Cosmos goes up.

Treaty of Commerce with Italy will shortly be signed.

Razon declares our public credit bad.

The differences in military quarters about the amnesty decree have been healed.

President Santos was sick in bed yesterday.

Rumours of more barbarous treatment of a soldier in a barracks.

Rosario, 25th.

Central Argentine Railway refuses any more goods till the enormous stock in the station is sent forward.

15000 bags of wheat exported to San Lorenzo.

Steamer Lamport takes 800 sacks of minerals to England.

Severe frost last night.

Mole works stopped completely.

THE INDIAN INVASION.

The Indian invasion at Trenquelauquen is another very sharp reminder that we may be all going ahead a little too fast in the stocking of new frontier lands, which within the last twelve months have advanced so enormously in value.

Except within the immediate circle of landbrokers, there are very few of us aware of what is doing in those new speculative estancia lands which have so suddenly come to the front; and it was our trip to Loretto last month that gave us an inkling of the tremendous push that is going on outside. Even whilst we write, cattle are being driven to new estancias in Italo, Gainza, Media Luna, and, in fact, for the want of a more perfect knowledge of the new geography beyond the Alsina ditch, we are unable to give the names of all the places where new estancias are being formed and stocked; but what has occurred to poor Mr. McClymont, whilst driving his cattle to his new lands, will probably induce people to be more cautious, and it may be laid down as a fixed rule that no man should stock lands that are beyond the protection of National or Provincial authority.

Two years ago, the uttermost estancia on our south-west frontier was that of Mr. Lopez Lecubé, who assured us of all the great hardships he had suffered, and that, although the Indians were driven from the Pampa, there were always to be met small gangs of savages sufficiently numerous to attack and sack any estancia.

This melancholy affair at Trenquelauquen reminds us of the great truth of Mr Lecubé's remarks, who assured us that none of these new estancias would be safe if the National Government did not keep up in the neighbourhood of these estancias strong forts or pickets of men, with the very best horses, and ready at a moment's warning to turn out and scour the camps.

Affairs on these frontier lands are not sufficiently stable to justify the National Government leaving their protection to the Provincial Chief of Police. We all naturally ask where were the troops?—where the frontier officer?—where the telegraph messages?—in one word, where is the Argentine War Office or its "Comandancia de Armas" that in broad daylight, within two days' journey of this city, 3,000 head of mestiza English cattle could be swept off before our eyes and their owner and his men butchered? Cattle do not travel very fast, and can be easily overtaken by the troops or be neighbours. But here we were, now three days without any further news; and if to-morrow we do not receive more advices, we shall feel it our duty to send a telegram to General Villegas, presenting him with our compliments and politely informing him that the probabilities are, the first troop of cattle that will avail of his newly-discovered pass, the Barilochi, as the most convenient way of transit into Chile, will be our murdered friend McClymont's 3,000 head of mestize Durhams.

THE RAID AT TRENQUELAUQUEN.

MR. McCLYMONT KILLED.

The latest news about the Indian, or gaucho, raid is:—

Found impossible to overtake the marauders.

The police reached the scene of the fight, and found two of Mr McClymont's mayordomos and Mr McClymont himself severely wounded. This news comes from a person on the spot.

Commissary Sustaita is resting his horses and awaiting orders.

The Indians appear to have retreated to the hills known as 'Pincen' where his tolderias formerly were.

The police rode 57 leagues in two days, to get to the scene of the catastrophe, which is in the 8th Section of National Territory, 7 leagues West of Meridian 5. There are no National troops there, and the police had to act instead.

Pincen has not stirred from Lincoln and had nothing to do with the raid.

VERY LATEST.

We deeply lament to announce that telegrams were received yesterday evening to the effect that Mr. McClymont is amongst those murdered by the savages.

INTERESTING FIGURES.

People having a head for figures may like to cut out the following statistics. We oppose one statement, and that is, that Texas is the largest state in the world, as we believe the Gran Chaco or Patagonia are both larger:—

The largest State in the civilized world is Texas which boasts of an area of 274,356 square miles; the smallest is the little State of Monac in Europe, which has only an area of six square miles. The Austrian Empire contains 240,943 square miles; the German Empire, 212,091; France, 204,091; Spain, 177,781; Sweden, 168,042; California, 157,801; Dakota, 150,932; territory of Montana, 143,776; Norway, 122,280; New Mexico, 121,201; Great Britain and Ireland, 120,879; Italy, 114,296; Arizona, 113,196; Nevada, 112,090; Colorado, 104,500; territory of Wyoming 97,883; Oregon, 95,274; territory of Idaho, 86,294; territory of Utah, 84,476; Minnesota, 83,531; Kansas, 80,891; Nebraska, 75,994; territory of Washington, 69,994; Indian territory, 68,991; Missouri, 65,350; Turkey in Europe, 62,028; then come a number of other American States, after which are Roumania, 45,642; Bosnia and Herzegovian 28,125; Bulgaria, 24,360; Servia, 20,850; Netherlands, 20,527; Greece, 19,941; Switzerland, 15,235; Denmark 14,553; Eastern Rumelia, 13,500; Belgium, 11,373; and Montenegro, 1,770.

LONDON GOSSIP.

PRINCE ALBERT VICTOR 'ENGAGED'

THE DIXIE AFFAIR.

THE WELSH CHURCH AND SCOTCH KIRK.

The Queen's fall is not serious, and it is made a good excuse for remaining within doors for a while. Her Majesty has been made very nervous by the explosion at Westminster and the story told by Lady Florence Dixie of what happened only three miles from Windsor Castle. A little rest for her is, therefore, a measure of precaution. It is, perhaps, not strange, however, that so far as the police have been able to discover the secrets of the dynamite party, they have at no time thought of harming the members of the royal family. There is no bitterness against the Queen in Ireland. Even the refusal of the Dublin Corporation to allow the National Anthem to be sung at the opening of the Dublin Exhibition was not popular, and was due rather to the Academical Republicanism of the Lord Mayor than to any real objection to royalty. Irishmen are shrewd, and none of them ever for one moment attribute their ills to monarchy. In fact, it only needs for the monarchy to popularise itself in Ireland to become the one institution there which the people would thoroughly admire.

When the King and the Queen of the Netherlands come here a fortnight hence, they will find the Queen at Osborne, and will have to go to an hotel. They have not been invited to stay in Buckingham Palace; and—one is glad to say—the degenerate chief of the illustrious House of Orange is not to be dined at Guildhall. Probably he will be let very much alone in London by the people who usually fight so hard to cheer a sovereign. Such was his fate last time; and such is likely to be his fate again.

Prince Albert Victor is nineteen years of age, but, if Mr Labouchere is to be believed, he has already had a wife chosen for him. He is to marry Princess Clementine, the daughter of the King of the Belgians. This young lady has been chosen to be the future Queen of England at the age of thirteen; and she is to grow for five years or so into womanhood, and then is to be mated straightway. The Prince of Wales was married at twenty-two; if Prince Albert Victor waits until the Princess Clementine is eighteen, he will be twenty-four, and even then she will be "o'er young to marry yet," especially as she shows no sign of any precocious development. Politically, the effect of the marriage could not be great. All the liking felt in England for the Princess of Wales did not save her father's dominions from partition by Germany; and though our future Queen is a Belgian, it would not commit us by one single step more to the protection of the independence of Belgium.

The Lady Florence Dixie business has done a vast amount of good. Feeling at the end of last week was growing extraordinarily bitter. A sense of insecurity had taken a hold of London. Nobody knew what might be blown up next. Working men were actually debating among themselves the advisability of "boycotting" Irishmen altogether. One or two more turns of the screw—an indiscreet speech from an Irish leader—an act of violence by a mad Irishman—would have made things very serious. Once raised, the cry of "Down with the Irish!" would have led to a catastrophe. Lady Florence Dixie, however, has made all London laugh—the Government, the House of Commons, Society, and the whole people, and that laugh has caused a reaction from Saturday's panic. In the words of the song, we have laughed all fear away. Our equilibrium is restored. Lady Florence Dixie's cuts which were not serious upon her hand, rents which were not made by a dagger upon her dress, and marks upon her corset which do not tally with the holes in her dress, have given the public something for amusement; and while it is being amused it cannot be vindictive.

Our very best judge is dead. Sir George Jessel, Master of the Rolls, the first Jew who ever rose to the Bench, died to-day of angina pectoris. As an advocate he was known as one of the ablest men of his time. As a member of Parliament and as Law Officer he took high rank. But it was not until he became a judge that his greatness was seen. He succeeded Lord Romilly, a good kindly man, with little force of character and a slow method of procedure, which he made less dull by constant recourse to a bottle of smelling salts. The change when Sir George took Lord Romilly's place in the little court by the Rolls Chapel was immense. Counsel discovered the difference at once. Instead of being allowed to talk all round and about a case, they were forced to come forthwith to the point, as mere rhetoric was discouraged, and that lawyer was encouraged who put his case tersely and simply. As soon as he saw what was meant, Sir George went to the next point, and he had soon got the kernel of a case in his hand. Consequently, he had soon got his judgment ready. He was very rapid of decision; and the wonder is that he did not purchase rapidity at the expense of security. To have the judgment of some of his contemporaries was simply to possess the right of appeal. It was the recognised fact about one judge that it was a ground of hope if he decided against you. Sir George Jessel was not of that type at all. His judgments were very sound. Illness had of late impaired his temper a little, and he has said things about his colleagues which perhaps he should not have said; but the suitors of England have none the less lost their favourite judge, the bar has lost a man of high character whom it loved, and the Courts of Judicature have lost their greatest ornament—their master-mind. Whoever succeeds Sir George Jessel will never fill his place.

It is pretty nearly agreed that the agitation for the disestablishment of the English Church in Wales shall precede the agitation for the disestablishment of the Scotch Kirk. Little effort of a strenuous kind will be made to get either question before the House of Commons this session. Mr Dillwyn, having failed in the ballot to gain a day, will now simply keep his resolution "en evidence;" but in the autumn an earnest effort will be made to secure a unanimous voice from Wales in favour of treating her in ecclesiastical affairs as a province distinct from England.

It is rumoured that the Government is already taking steps to withdraw altogether from the Transvaal, and for leaving the Boers to themselves. When the debate upon Bechuanaland is resumed, it is probable that an announcement to this effect will be made, and this logical result of past policy will receive no sort of real condemnation from any part of the House of Commons. Mr Forster's speech has made it almost necessary to choose between withdrawal and war.

THE QUEENSBERRY FAMILY.

An almost universal scepticism prevails about the outrage upon Lady Florence Dixie. The newspaper placards this evening speak of an "alleged" attack upon her ladyship. The St. James's Gazette suggests that a couple of tramps bent on robbery have been elevated into members of the Society of Invincibles; the police are, as they phrase it, puzzled. Nobody can piece together and harmonise the many stories told, and everybody is awaiting further information.

Lady Florence Dixie belongs to a family fond of notoriety. Her brother, the Marquis of Queensberry, is the free-thinking Scotch Peer who lost his seat in the House of Lords for his opinions, and who recently protested in the Globe Theatre against Tennyson's play. "The Promise of May." Another brother, Lord Archibald Douglas, has turned Roman Catholic, become a priest, and lives in a home for destitute boys in the Harrow road. A sister Lady Gertrude Douglas, after helping in the home, married its "destitute" baker, and now helps to carry on a baker's business at Shepherd's Bush. Lord James Edward Douglas, Lady Florence's twin-brother, goes in for sport, and has written a sporting novel. Lady Florence herself has already done some extraordinary things. She is the only woman war correspondent who ever went to witness a battle. She went out to South Africa for the Morning Post, became converted to the views of Cetewayo, and became his most energetic champion. Her letters to the Colonial Office were elevated to the rank of despatches and published in the blue-books. Since then she has been by turns a Land Leaguer and a persistent inquirer into the destination of the Land League funds. She is a good shot, rides well across country, is brave, energetic, enthusiastic and persistent. It is this peculiar member of a peculiar family upon whom the outrage was committed, and who was saved by a dog, described indiscriminately as a St. Bernard, a Newfoundland and a mastiff.

Like the police, we are puzzled. In the House of Commons there is only one opinion about the "outrage." That opinion was fairly well expressed by a loud laugh when the subject was referred to. Hilarity prevailed too in the lobby when the affair was discussed.

On the Ministerial bench the whole affair is regarded as an hallucination. On the Conservative side it is discredited. The police sneer about it. One detective, who had been sent down to Windsor to investigate the facts, spent only an hour and a-half on the spot, and then telegraphed to Scotland-yard for permission to return, stating in his telegram that he was perfectly satisfied.

The Irish members are angry, and they proclaim loudly that an ungenerous attempt has been made by a lady of position and title to rouse still higher the popular passion, already too excited, against Ireland. On the whole, perhaps, it will be as well to let the Windsor outrage die as soon as possible out of the public memory.

THREAT TO DESTROY THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

Mr W N Molesworth St. Aubyn, the member for Helston, has received an anonymous letter, informing him that there is a probability of the House of Commons being blown up after the Easter recess. The honourable gentleman states that the epistle, which was apparently in the handwriting of an uneducated woman, was delivered at his chambers, in Brick-court, Temple, by post, on the morning of either Friday or Saturday last. It bore the "E.C." postmark, and was addressed "Mr. St. Albans, M P., 1, Brick-court, Temple." In the letter he was asked not to be in the House of Commons after the Easter recess, as it would probably be blown up. It further went on to state that Mr St Aubyn had defended the husband of the writer at the Old Bailey some time ago, and that he was the only Conservative member who had voted in favour of Mr Philip Callan not being expelled from the House on one night when he had been named by the Chairman of Committees. Mr St. Aubyn, who has received a great many anonymous letters at various times, took no notice of it at the time, but simply destroyed it. On Monday night, however, he mentioned the fact of having received it, not in the way of publicity, but simply as a passing observation, to a gentleman from Portsmouth, whom he met in the House of Commons, and he also believes he spoke of it both to Inspector Denning and two of the policemen at the doors of the House. He has no idea who the writer could be, and he attaches not the slightest importance to it, as is plainly shown by his having made no official communication to the police on the subject. Mr St Aubyn did not intend to make the matter public, but as a statement has leaked out he thinks it only right that the real facts should be made known.

The Freeman of Thursday says the Commissioners of Police have drafted into Scotland yard for detective purposes a number of Irish inspectors hitherto stationed in various parts of London. These officers have had special opportunities of acquiring a knowledge of the opinions and movements of the Irish residents in the district in which they have served. They are to form an extra detective staff, and their duty will be to watch the movements of certain individuals who are suspected of complicity in a conspiracy for the perpetration of outrages which the authorities believe to exist at present in London.

The Press Association is informed that the supposed clue to the perpetrators of the Westminster explosion is only one of the many that have been received at Scotland Yard, and that it is no more reliable than those which have preceded it. In order to render the authorities assistance, it is most important that anything relating to Fenian outrages, or supposed attempts at outrage, should be forwarded to Scotland Yard, addressed to Chief-superintendent Williamson.

EXTRAORDINARY SCENE ON SHIPBOARD.

A CAPTAIN'S CERTIFICATE CANCELLED

Mr. Rothery, Q. C., commissioner of wrecks, concluded at Glasgow yesterday an inquiry into the circumstances of the burning and subsequent scuttling of the barquentine Falcon, of Arundel (Sussex), on the 19th ult., while on a voyage from the Clyde to Buenos Aires with a cargo of coal. It appeared from the evidence that the vessel, after a delay of nearly a month, a new captain and crew having in the interval been engaged, went down the Channel in the beginning of February. When she was between the Isle of Man and the Irish coast the crew, who had so far been kept pretty constantly at the pumps, made a formal complaint to the master that the ship was leaking and should not be sent to sea. What the witnessed described as a squabble arose, the master wrangling with the men in the cabin. The men afterwards retired to the forecastle and refused to work. That was on the 11th February. For some time afterwards the ship was allowed to drift about, and as the crew refused to clew up the sails, the sails were blown to ribbons. On the same afternoon, the 11th, the man at the wheel, who ought to have been relieved at the end of two hours, was kept steering six hours at a stretch, ultimately leaving the wheel with no one in charge till he should get some food. While the ship was driving about with no one in charge the captain and mate were below together, and the latter ultimately coming on deck, told the crew that he was going to take command of the vessel, and would put her about. The crew then returned to their work, and the ship was turned back and anchored off Corsewall Point, where new sail, were bent and the vessel's rigging repaired. At the end of several days the ship slipped her cable and made for Loch Ryan, which was reached on the 18th February. On the vessel anchoring in the loch she was boarded by a coastguard officer, to whom the captain said he didn't know the name of the owners of the ship nor yet the number of his crew. On the morning following, about half-past nine o'clock, the ship was observed from the shore to be on fire, and a crew of coastguardsmen and fishermen at once went out to render assistance. On the boat arriving alongside the master refused all assistance, but the men insisted on going on board. They then found that several of the Falcon's crew were drunk, and that the master himself was also considerably the worse for liquor. The ship's stores, it appeared, had been tampered with on the ship taking fire, and the rum and tobacco divided. The rum cask was emptied into a bucket, out of which the crew were supplied with the liquor in jugfuls. The coastguard officer took command of the ship, set sail, and ran her aground. As the fire continued to spread, the ship was ultimately scuttled and sunk. On the tide ebbing all the crew were got ashore in safety. Mr. Rothery, in intimating the finding of the Court, said it was not clear how the fire originated, whether from spontaneous combustion or from the cabin stove, or from the wilful act of some person. In regard to Captain James Burns, who was in command of the ship, the Court held that it had been proved that he ordered the rum to be served out to the men when the ship was burning. Utter recklessness had been shown in throwing the rum cask, after it was emptied, into the fire, the only apparent effect being to feed the flames. The evidence was conclusive that on the 11th and 19th February the captain was in a state of intoxication, and that he was drinking when the crew were in a state of mutiny. He and the mate left the vessel for a time with no one in charge except an ordinary seaman at the wheel. The conduct of Burns, in whatever light it was looked at, was utterly unjustifiable, and was a disgrace to any man who was master of a British ship. The Court cancelled his certificate. The Board of Trade would, however, be recommended to grant him a mate's certificate.

THE DANGERS OF FRENCH FINANCE.

Writing on the financial position of the Republic, the Paris correspondent of the Standard says:—As there are enormous commercial interests involved between England and France, it is of the highest importance that the real financial condition of our nearest neighbour and best customer should be perfectly known to Englishmen. The Government gives us no facilities for finding out how its accounts stand, and there is some excuse for this, as that account is so long and so complicated, the machinery is so clumsy, and the system so faulty, that when the Minister of Finance commits in his statement a trifling error of four millions sterling, it is looked upon as a matter of no consequence. For the last few years the State has been resorting to loans in every form and shape. It has borrowed from the "Caisse des Consignations;" it has borrowed from the savings banks; it has overdrawn its account at the bank; it puts off as long as it can the payments it has to make. These are grave charges. They are to be found in the French Budget itself; and in the analysis of it published by M. Paul Leroy Beaulieu in the Economiste Francais, he says. 'L'Etat emprunte chaque jour de toutes les façons la derobee.' Formerly, when the State had great extraordinary expenses to meet, the practice was to issue a public loan, and after having realised it, to dispose of the funds available for the purpose to which they were assigned; but that was the vulgar, old-fashioned plan. The new and 'improved' system is this:—"You begin by incurring the expenditure; then, to meet the most indispensable payments when they fall due, you borrow from everybody—from Peter, or Paul, or the pawnbrokers. After every device of secretly raising the wind has been exhausted, you make up your mind to issue a public loan, the total amount of which barely covers half the indebtedness you have incurred before it floated." These damaging exposures come from no enemy to the Government. M. Paul Leroy Beaulieu is one of the chief writers on the Débats, as well as the editor of the Economiste Français, and as a member of the Institute he is no stranger to English firms having dealings with France. His warnings, therefore, are specially entitled to attention. It has been already stated that the 'ordinary' Budget for 1884 has been estimated by M. Tirard at 3,103,000,000 f. This, of course, is exclusive of the 'extraordinary' expenses which M. Tirard has not yet mustered courage to deal with. In the last year of the Empire (1869) the ordinary budget was 1,744,000,000 f.; in 1876, 2,570,000,000; in 1882, 2,854,000,000 f.; in 1883, 3,044,000,000 f., and in 1884, 3,103,000,000 f. M. Thiers used to say, "La France est assez riche pour payer sa gloire;" but it is not glory she is paying for now, and M. Paul Leroy Beaulieu seems to question whether she be rich enough to pay for an ever-increasing army of placemen. It results from the comparative statement above that the ordinary expenditure has increased in France by something like 80 per cent in 13 years. M. Paul Leroy Beaulieu holds that the war is not accountable for that increase, and he attributes it exclusively to the heedless squandering and extravagance of the Government in certain public works, notably in the building of school-houses and in the creation of new offices specially devised to provide political friends with means of drawing on the public purse.

THE DYNAMITE TRADE.

Professor Abel, chemist to the War Department, Woolwich Arsenal, who is perhaps our greatest scientific authority on the chemistry and the physical and mechanical properties of explosives, was in Glasgow recently, giving a discourse on his favourite subject—"The Recent Development of Explosive Agents"—under the auspices of the Glasgow Science Lecture Association. He had much to say that was intensely interesting in reference to gunpowder, more especially the progress made in connection with it during the past quarter of a century, but the peculiar interest of his remarks seemed to centre around nitro-glycerine and the nitro-glycerine preparations, including blasting gelatine and dynamite. There was, he said, perhaps nothing more remarkable in the industry of industrial progress than the wonderfully rapid strides which had been made in the manufacture of dynamite. In 1857 it was not manufactured in this country to any appreciable extent, and in all only 11 tons were made elsewhere. In 1868 the production had risen to 73 tons; in 1872, to 1350 tons, while in 1874 the last-mentioned quantity was trebled. Four years later the manufacture had reached 6440 tons, and last year the production had reached 11,000 tons. These figures did not include the material produced on the Continent. The manufacture of blasting gelatine was developing, and Professor Abel had no doubt that ere long it would be found to usurp the place of its older brother dynamite, as it seemed in every respect to be more explosive.—Engineering.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY.

APPALLING ETIQUETTE.

To a stranger here the etiquette is appalling, and the rules of other places directly reversed. As a first fact, the stranger and the latest comer must make the first calls, precedence between official families of the same rank being established by date of commission. The President and the Chief Justice alone are exempt from this rule; every one of position, whether native or foreigner, going first to them. The same privilege extends to their families, and during this administration it is Mrs. Waite who sits on the social throne. Although in the absence of a President or Vice-President's wife, the wife of the Speaker of the House ranks next, as the first lady in the land, even Mrs. Keifer has to call upon Mrs. Waite first and introduce herself into other judicial and Cabinet drawing-rooms. Other official families have to follow in the same line and order, and when a foreign minister comes here he must not only call in state upon the President and Secretary of State, but follow that up with calls upon the Cabinet and Supreme Court people, upon the other members of the diplomatic cerps and the members of the Foreign Affairs Committees of the Senate and House, which committeemen being chosen haphazard, and for all sorts of politicel considerations, are seldom punctilious in the discharge of their duties, or extra well versed in etiquette.

The wives of the Senators, when they first come to Washington, must call upon the wives of all the other Senators, if they want to know them, and then they may sit up as stiffly as they please, and wait for all the Representatives' wives to come and pay their respects.

A Congressman's wife has to call upon every one first. The whole line of higher officials demanding this tribute from these people whose tenure of life is only for two years at a time, and whose futures are so full of uncertainties.

The wives of the Representatives longest in Congress get their grain of comfort out of the fact that all of the new members' wives must come to them first, and so the world goes on with its increasing circles and rings down to the least official. With all this fol-de-rol of official etiquette people bring with them the set ways of their own region, and in the jumble of customs and the rigid adherence of some to their own particular ways, comical situations often result. One Congressman's wife sat for the first two years of her stay in Washington waiting for the world to call on her, morbid and raging in spirit meanwhile at the supposed affront put upon one who led a small Western town for many years. She would not believe, when told, that the advances must be made by herself, but when sage counsels prevailed went about distributing her cards with a frenzy that has never since abated, and she diplomaticrlty says that she was an invalid for the first two years she spent in Washington.

A CAPITAL STORY.

When Prince Frederick Charles was a child going on for three he was one day suddenly seized with a most alarming illness. His father Prince Charles, the lately deceased brother of the Emperor of Germany, in a fearful state of anxiety about his darling little son rushed about half mad in search of Heim, one of the most enlightened physicians of Berlin. This worthy was known by the sobriquet of the 'Councillor,' and possessed amongst other great gifts a most subtle sense of smell. The Prince found Heim at a gay party, and at once took him along with him to his sick child's bedside. The father's eyes were anxiously fixed on the great physician's slightly excited face. Judge of his amazement and indignation when the oracle said in brief accents, "Child is drunk Royal Highness." "Drunk!" exclaimed the Prince; "drunk! It appears to me, Sir Councillor that you must be drunk to indulge in such offensive folly!" "The very thing, Highness," replied the physician, quite unmoved by the Prince's angry tone, knit brows, and flashing eyes; "you see, by comparing the beat of my pulse with that of the child I arrive at the conclusion that the poor little fellow is more drunk than I am." The nurse was called in at once. "What have you been giving to the child?" asked the old doctor sternly, "Kümmel Aquavit (caraway liqueur) I suppose?" And so eventually it turned out. The girl confessed that her sweetheart, a sergeant of the guards had given the child a pull or two out of his flask to keep him quiet whilst he flirted with his innamorata. In a couple of hours the child was all right again. "What a wonderful man you are, Councillor, in your diagnosis!" said the Prince; "one could hardly believe it possible to fix upon the true facts of the case guided simply by the pulse!" "Pulse! Ha, ha," laughed the old Councillor. "Why, Highness, I smelt the caraway the instant I entered the room!"

EDITOR'S TABLE

The French mail steamer Senegale got away all right yesterday afternoon. The Clerk of the Weather smiled on the distinguished list of passengers "conocidos," and "desconocidos" also, as his Clerkship and "Pallida Mors" are equally impartial in their respective lines of business, and make no difference between king and kad (Curumulan is now spelt with a K, and why not cad?—for alliteration's sake). The day was gloriously fine, but as cold as charity, and all the "voyageurs" were muffled to the eyes. Some of them wished they were in heaven while on the way to the Outer Roads, as the river was lively enough, and "mal de mer," even on fresh water, (excuse the "bull") is not pleasant. Good bye, ladies and gentlemen; you'll survive it and enjoy yourselves in old Europe.

A morning colleague states that a National Ministerial crisis is within measurable distance, but we are much inclined to think that the news is "incierta."

A printer's error in the first paragraph of our remarks yesterday on the Smith Testimonial made us say that we have known the venerable recipient of it for 33 years. Not so fast, Mr. Printer! We have had the pleasure for only 22 years, but hope to have it for many more yet.

The new Municipality will meet for the first time on May 1st (Tuesday next). Before the Old Guard is disbanded, Lord Mayor Alvear means to entertain them at a magnificent lunch already ordered; so those members whose speeches do not come too "trippingly on the tongue" have ample time to write them out and commit them to memory for the occasion.

The "rara avis in terra" which Mr. Pereyra gave for the lake at the Recoleta, was "non est" yesterday morning when the keeper went his rounds. Some rascal stole it during the night. What a pity! We saw the beautiful bird sailing gracefully about on Sunday last. It is an Australian swan. We then turned into the Cemetery, which we had not seen for ten years. What a change! It is now in every way a Campo Santo worthy of a great city, and Buenos Ayres owes this to the Lord Mayor, Don Torcuato Alvear.

By the way, we want to call His Lordship's attention to the building, paving, carting, etc., that now goes on on Sunday in every part of town, in spite of his Sunday Closing edict. An open milliner's shop is a far less glaring outrage on the Sabbath than to be forced to see trowel and pick and shovel and laden cart at work. In Plazo Mayo they were working harder than at any other point—we suppose to have the pavement down before Congress opens. But this is no excuse.

It gives us much pleasure to announce that the Dramatic Company at the National Theatre have already won the hearts and sympathies of Buenos Aires; and it is not strange, for we have never seen children act better than the three Lambertinis. Louise, a child of 11 years, is such a perfect actress, that few great theatres can boast of such talent. The two boys, comparatively young but well aquainted with the stage, also act well their parts, and especially Achilles seems to try to follow in the steps of his great namesake. In the three pieces which were performed on Tuesday night not only the three children but also Mr and Miss Massi and Mr Lambertini Sr., kept the public the whole evening in the very best spirits. We consider it an act of justice towards Mr Alberto Castiglioni, who is the author of the pieces given on Saturday and Sunday nights, to mention his name specially, for we hear from those who have mastered the tongue of Dante better than we have, that through all his writing a high poetic vein runs. We wish the talented author as well as the company, that they may win fresh public support every day.

Hamlet

Mr Saturnine Hughes had his carpet bag stolen the other day in the train from Chivilcoy to the metropolis, and looked very saturnine indeed when he discovered his loss. Thefts are becoming unpleasantly frequent on the Western Railway of late, and the Directors should post up in the carriages the same notice as in England—"Beware of Thieves and Card-sharpers!"

With this sudden cold weather, the run for warming stoves at Mr Cassels' American depot at Calle Maipu 91, has been so great that he has nearly none remaining. A vessel is daily expected in with a new stock. Meantime, some of his smaller kitchen stoves are so neat and cleanly that many people take them to put in their dining rooms. For the camp these are just the thing.

Those requiring solid and elegant furniture have a fine chance to secure same to-day, at the auction of the Rev. Dr. F. Smith's furniture, in the Armstrong Quinta at the Recoleta. The furniture is mainly of mahogany and walnut, of English make; and there is also fine glassware, carpets etc. The Rev. Dr Smith will probably leave for Europe in the next French steamer.

Here's news for you ladies. Oh! Lud!—"Green hair is coming into fashion in Paris. Already several beauties of the first rank have been observed in the boxes at the theatres whose heads were in "youthful verdure clad" in the literal sense of the word. Unfortunately, it is no easy matter to dye the hair green. This color can only be imparted to white hair. Hair of any other color must first be dyed white."

Congress will probably be opened by President Roca on Tuesday next. Very few members are now wanting to make up a "quorum", as most of the honourable legislators have arrived in town; and they hold their first preliminary session to-day.

Telegraph lines from the Colon Theatre to the police and Bombero stations are the only precautions taken, after all the fuss and pow-wow, to prevent High Life being served up, 'done' to a turn, some night during the season. We intend to secure the pit seat nearest the door, and bolt like a rocket on the first scream.

The Prensa's Lincoln correspondent, telegraphing on Tuesday night, confirms the news about the Indians or 'gaucho' raid, and 3,000 of Mr McClymont's cows having been carried off. The "chasque" had to ride right through the marauders, but only received one prod of a lance.

Messrs. Deck and Whiting's "Gimnasia del Hogar" is now becoming the rage, and Mr. Deck is engaged from morn till night in giving lessons to the youthful cream of society, boys and girls. The machine, we hear, is about to be introduced in all the Public Schools, and we would strongly advise the private ones to follow suit, as it will ensure healthy development of body for their pupil, sand health of mind will follow. This simple yet perfect machine can be seen any night by 'flaneurs' in Calle Florida, in the cigar-shop at the corner of Rivadavia, where several little boys are generally engaged in all kinds of wild-cat twistings, rowing etc.

Still another important canal is talked of in Europe. By it is contemplated nothing less than the separation of England and Scotland by a water-way from the Solway Firth to the River Tyne. An engineer is at present working on the surveys, and estimates are promised for early publication. This canal would have a length of only eighty miles, or twenty miles less than the Suez. It would, of course, afford a very convenient short cut across the country for ocean steamers. Some forty years ago a scheme of the same kind was talked of.

Telegrams from the camp report that the Frost has come down like a wolf on the fold and made very sad havoc with the lambs.

Colonel Sola has been sworn in as new Governor of Salta.

Baron Wildick and the famous Portugueze explorer Lopez Mendez are staying at the Hotel de Londres. They had a long talk with President Roca on Tuesday about starting Portuguese emigration to this country. Some say that the Baron will probably be named Portuguese Minister here.

We deeply regret to announce the death of the aged Mrs Garrahan of La Choza. The sad event took place on Tuesday. We offer her sons and family in general our sincere condolence on their bereavement.

Here' a caution to tea drinkers, who are daily increasing in numbers here: "Dr. Francis states in a paper read before the Harveian Society, London, that the habit of tea drinking at and between meals, now so common in England, renders people peculiarly liable to neuralgia. A lady in England wrote to her husband in India: "If you wish ever to see me again, come home at once; I am very ill." She asked her medical attendant to write also, which he did as follows: "Stay where you are; if your wife would only take less tea she would be quite well."

We feel much pleasure in saluting the Rev. Samuel O'Reilly, who is in town and favoured us with a short visit yesterday.

They are now all agog in Cordoba about Telephones, which are being run up in all directions in that excellent city.

The wine harvest in San Juan this year is reported to be very plentiful. One Bodega alone will turn out 6,000 "bordalesas" of fine wines. There are 400 men employed in the establishment—Messrs Cereseto and Marenco's. Not bad for a single firm. The question is what becomes of the wine, as the San Juaninos are poor topers but great eaters?

Those who owe their Contribucion Directa for 1881 and 1882 had better pay or pack up, as the Provincial Government has ordered law proceedings to be taken against them forthwith.

The mawkish custom of whining over murderers and begging that their lives be spared, has spread from here to B. Oriental. The Montevidean courts condemned a desperate ruffian to death on Monday, and already there is weeping and howling for President Santos to commute the sentence. In Colonel Latorre's time no one had quite nerve enough to petition him in such a sense murderers were shot, and the country was all the better for it.

A morning colleague says that Congress has resolved to be a very good boy this session, i.e. to work hard and talk little——at least less than last year.

Messrs. Flageolet & Co of Santa Fe, the great oil men, are going to strike up a new tune, viz, the manufacture of sewing thread. We wish them every success, but hardly hope for it.

The word love in one of the Indian dialects is chemlendamaoughkanagogager.' Just fancy a sweet forest maiden calling her copper-coloured brave chemlendamaoughkanagogagers him.

Nature's Gratuity—Morning tipping the hills with gold.—Puck.

There was a false alarm of fire at the Hotel de Londres yesterday morning, owing to the kitchen stove flaring up for a moment. The proprietor rushed hatless into the street and roared Fire! but when the Bomberos arrived they found that, for once, there was smoke without fire.

A grand dinner was given on Saturday week to some members of the Argentine Yacht Club, by Captain Bowden-Smith, of H.M.S. Amethyst, now at Colonia. The guests slept on board, and remained to witness Divine Service on Sunday.

To the Editor of the Standard,

Dear Sir,

The season of the year will soon arrive when warm clothing for the person, and for beds, must be secured, or pain and sickness will be the natural result, and I wish, (though I'm not a philosopher) to offer to your numerous subscribers and readers of your valuable paper some remarks on blankets and quilts.

The idea of hardening ones self by undue exposure is simply absurd, and in the camp is carried to a most ridiculous pitch; one man who has been some years in this 'promised land,' and in good circumstances, told me and even boasted of never having slept in a bed, preferring to sleep in a water-trough with his old 'poncho' over him; of course he was a single man. Now this is one of the camp pieces of lunacy, and in a Christian country he would very soon be put into an asylum.

Now, no one can secure a good refreshing sleep while suffering from cold feet or from any coldness.

In the manufacture of the quilt, with its usual labour, I am not able to discover the least common sense, or science. If we follow nature, we shall see that the animals are clothed with a light and open covering, as the fur, which admits of the penetration of the rays of the sun, the light and air, so made that it has both absorbing power and the power to pr

Cedulas Series A 4,500 cash at 100½ and for April 30th 70,000 at 100½. Cedulas Series E 79,800 for cash at 85½-½-86-85½-86. For April 30th 120,000 at 85½-86-85½-86. For May 31st 80,000 at 86¾-½-⅝.
National Bank Shares for April 30th 1,050 at 105½-⅜-½-⅜, and for May 31st 550 at 106⅝ to 106¾-⅝.
There has been a brisk movement in Cedulas to-day; the great seller of the month was again in the field, but his efforts to produce a fall were of no avail. It is reported that the loan has been concluded by Mr. Llambi Campbell, but particulars are held up.
In National Bank Shares we have again to report efforts to drive down prices, but to no effect, as the bulls are provided with funds sufficient to take up all the shares they have purchased. $200,000 were taken up to-day at 11 o/o per annum.
The sales at afterhours were:—

500	shares at 105½	for April 30th
200	" 105⅝	"
200	" 106¾	for May 31st
200	" 107	"
20,000	Cedulas E at 86	for April 30th
20,000	" 86½	for May 31st

The market closes firm with buyers at last quotations.
The news of the death of Mr. W. McClymont and companions in the encounter with the Indians, referred to yesterday, was received this afternoon and spread a gloom on 'Change.
The Cordoba Land Auction at Messrs Bullrich & Co. was a splendid success. Bidders numerous, and high prices the order of the day. Amongst those present we noticed Messrs. Narciso Vernet, Narciso Ocampos, J. McDonnald, J. Tibbut, J. Kubly, J Hughes, Charles Vernet, Woolfe, Meyer, Downs, Cranwell, Murphy, Ibarra and several other representative men both here and in the camp. Prompt at duty's call, Mr Bullrich stood up, hammer in hand, and in a few well chosen words explained to his anxious listeners the relative value of the camps, what bargains they would get today, and what profits they were sure to make in even the short space of a year. He then opened the auction. The following are the purchasers and prices paid:—

The Minister of the Interior has just received a lengthy correspondence from the Governor of Catamarca in answer to one which he sent respecting the adaptability of this Province as an agricultural centre. The Governor states he has commissioned Sr. Soto Mayor to report to him if on the Southern slopes of the Sierra del Alto the vine cannot be grown with success; he is awaiting his answer to report on same to the Minister. In the same correspondence, the Governor adds that this Province, owing to the scarcity of water and very warm climate, will never be able to carry on agricultural pursuits to any great extent. Accompanying this correspondence is a proposal made by Sr. Soto Mayor to colonize parts of the district of Altigasta very well situated, lying alongside the North Central Railway tract, and very near the projected village Villa Navarro, which will shortly be established.
The Villarino, as we announced, started on Tuesday. Amongst the many passengers she carried there were none more important or of greater significance than the 150 immig

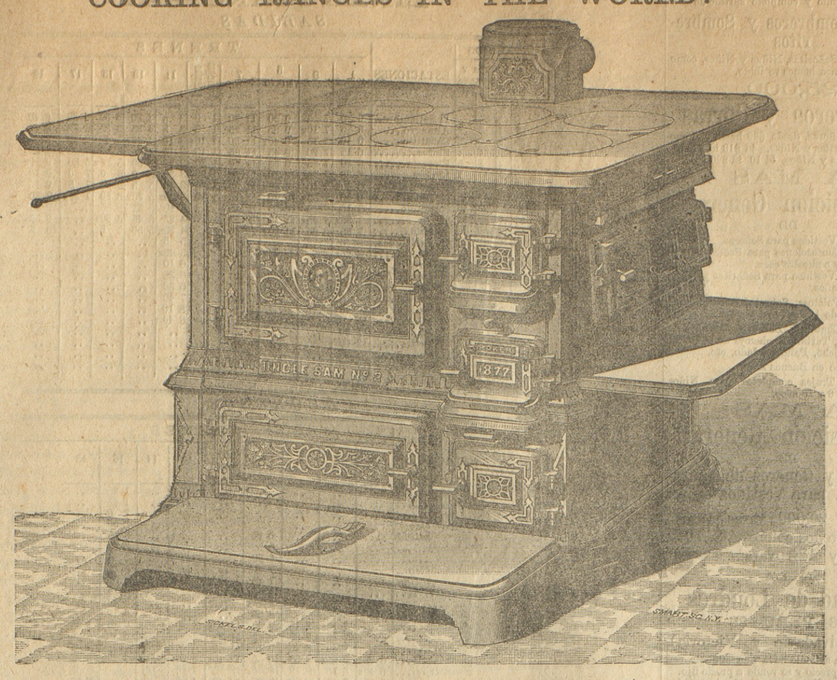
THE MOST PERFECT AND THE MOST ECONOMICAL COOKING RANGES IN THE WORLD!



'LA FAVORITA', 'LA MONADA', 'LA CASERA', 'UNCLE SAM', &C.

Awarded, THE ONLY GOLD MEDAL for Ranges of this class at the Paris Exhibition 1878.
THE ONLY SPECIAL PRIZE OF MERIT, together with Gold Medal at the Sydney Exhibition 1880. In competition with other Ranges from England, France, Belgium, the United States, etc.
These Ranges and Stoves which attracted so much attention and were so highly commended at the late Exhibition in this city, can now be obtained in great variety of size and style, at the manufacturer's depot, just opened at

91—CALLE MAIPU—91

Special adaptations have been made to meet the peculiar requirements of this country.
One of the most valuable features in these Ranges and Stoves, is, that each part is made interchangeable, and extra pieces will always be kept on hand; thus, after years of use should any part require to be replaced, it can immediately and easily by replaced be a new piece at a comparatively trifling cost.

Ranges and Stoves will be Exhibited in operation.

Remataremos, con la base arriba fijada y dinero de contado, por orden terminante de su propietario.

El area de campo arriba indicada, ubicada en la Provincia de Cordoba, departamento del Rio IV, denominados en Santo Tomás, La Ramada y Cerro de la Madera, lotes nums. 20, 21, y 25 Serie A., cada lote ó suerte compuesta de cuatro leguas cuadradas, con aguadas y leña.

El Ferro-Carril Andino pasa por la esquina del campo lote numero 25, Cerro de la Madera distante 2 leguas de la estacion "Chajan". El F. C. Trasandino pasara a igual distancia de la Ramada.

Los pastos son excelentes y lo prueban que los señores Seisador, Lucero y Dominguez, han tenido alli invernadas.

Los campos linderos de los señores Leonardo Pereyra, Julian Balbin y Avellaneda, estan todos poblados y arrendados; el campo de este ultimo esta cercado.

Como se sabe, los campos de Rio IV son reputados sobre salientes y creemos que por base de $f. 2500 oro por legua, nadie vende alli.

Los interesados tienen sobrado tiempo de ir a ver estos campos para lo cual hemos dado un mes a los avisos. Titulos de primer orden.

Por mas informes ocurrase a nuestra casa Alsina 78.

El Lunes 7 de Mayo 1883
A las 3 de la tarde

Remataremos con la base arriba fijada y condiciones que mas abajo se indican por orden terminante de su dueño.

Una area de campo situada en el partido de Bahia Blanca compuesta de 6114 hectareas igual a 24 leguas cuadradas.

Las poblaciones que contienen son la estancia Las Merinas compuesta de una casa de material, figura de azotea con parapeto, techo de fierro con canaleta, con dos habitaciones de 6 vs. por 5, con cielo raso de madera y una cocina, pozo, jaguel de riquisima agua, suficiente para dar de beber a dos manadas, que son las que existen alli, quinta y dos corrales con 1100 vs. de alambrado.

Un galpon techo de 2 aguas de fierro de canaleta de 17 vs. de largo por 5 de ancho.

La calidad del campo es inmejorable y reputada como la mejor de todo el partido, tiene fama y conocido por La Loma Amarilla.

El camino que va del Azul a Bahia cruza el campo y pasa cerca de las casas.

Sus linderos son por el Oeste Las Saladas del Doctor Ocantos (antes Joaquin Amado), al Este Ronaldson y Sheriff, Cufoglia y Bisca, al Norte Lastra y Scott y al Sud Severino Lopez y esta marcado en el plano Meineke con el nombre de Diego Dodds.

Las bases para la venta son 130% hectareas o sean 450,000% mas o menos la legua, pudiendo el comprador seguir con la deuda a favor del Gobierno de la Provincia que importa 359,660% pagaderos en seis anualidades de de 59,944% que vencen el 18 de Diciembre de cada año.

Escusado nos parece demostrar las ventajas que ofrece una venta en estas condiciones; ademas no debe olvidarse que el gran ferro-carril del Sud, se acerca a pasos rapidisimos a su termino, que es el gran puerto de Bahia Blanca y que el 1° de Enero de 1884, tremos en tren a ese Emporio del Comercio y la Industria.

No hay en la Republica entera campos que puedan rivalizar los de este Partido, destinado a ser la California de la Republica Argentina.

Por planos y mas informes, ocurran a nuestra casa, Alsina 78.

Dysentery, Cholera Fever, Ague, Coughs, Colds, &c.
Dr J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne
(Ex Army Medical Staff)
IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CAUTION—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood stated that Dr J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, being the inventor was deliberately untrue, which he regretted had been sworn to. Eminent hospital physicians of London stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the discoverer of Chlorodyne; that they prescribe it largely, and mean no other than Dr Browne's—See Times, July 12th 1864.

The Public, therefore, are cautioned against using any other than

Dr J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.
REMEDIAL USES AND ACTION.

This invaluable remedy produces quiet, refreshing sleep, relieves pain, calms the system, restores the deranged functions, and stimulates health action of the secretions of the body, without creating any of those unpleasant results attending the use of opium. Old and young may take it all hours and times when requisite. Thousands of persons testify to its marvellous good effects and wonderful cures, while medical men extol its virtues most extensively.

CHLORODYNE is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.
CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for coughs, consumption, bronchitis, asthma.
CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests too often fatal diseases Diphtheria Fever, Crup, Ague.
CHLORODYNE acts like a charming Diarrhoea, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.
CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation and Spasms.
CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, Jan. 5th 1880. To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33, Great Russell Street, Bloomsbury, London—"Dear Sir, we embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the wide-spread reputation this justly-esteemed medicine, DR COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan, but all over the East. As a matter of general utility, we much question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are happy to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and, judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances ad infinitum of the extraordinary efficacy of DR. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE in Diarrhoea, and Dysentery, Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative, that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Choleraic Diarrhoea, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's, from a firm conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is a "deliberate breach of faith on the part of the chemist to prescriber and patient alike." We are, Sir, faithfully yours, Symes & Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain, His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists."

Extract from the General Board of Health, London, as to its efficacy in Cholera—"So strongly are we convinced of the immense value of this remedy that we cannot too forcibly urge the necessity of adopting it in all classes."

CAUTION—None genuine without the words 'Dr J. Collis Browne or the Government Stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.
